In 5.0.2, English only installation, I got the following problem when I display Permission Section for Products:

not very comfortable to set permissions

navigation bar while content fit the window's width

Description	Inherited	Inherited From	Access	Effective
View Category [CATEGORY.VIEW]	<input type="checkbox"/>	Home > Products	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	●
Add Category [CATEGORY.ADD]	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	Home	<input type="checkbox"/>	●

The bottom view with tabs and radio buttons is -too much- small, using normal size in Firefox on a standard display size (1440x900), while the top group radio buttons selector uses a lot of space and could be reduced, as we select one group at a time, and many different permissions for it. It'd be easier to have a smaller group list, as we have group sorting if needed, and much more space for permissions setting.

Additionally, I always have an horizontal navigation bar, while the content is not larger than window.
